Dear Sir,

I am now in my fourth year as the assistant principal at Minford High School. I have been faced with many challenges. One challenge I do not have to face is smoking in my restrooms. I arrived at Minford from a school with a heavy smoking problem. I was concerned with how I would deal with that problem when I came to Minford. The week I started my new assignment, I was informed by my principal of our Stealth Smoking Enforcement System. When school started, I was amazed at how effective the system was. The system has been in place in our school for close to ten years and apparently the word has been passed down to each class of incoming freshman because I did not have one incident of a student trying to smoke in our bathrooms.

I am in my 120th year in education. I have worked in seven different school districts ranging from large suburban districts to small rural districts. Minford High School is the first school I have worked in that did not have a smoking problem. It is easy to see that our Stealth Smoking Enforcement System is the reason why. Because of the Stealth System, I have zero discipline from smoking and our restrooms do not reek with the smell of smoke. Needless to say, I have been very impressed and would recommend this system to any organization wishing to not only cut down smoking, but eliminate it in your restricted areas.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey A. Pica
